

Experience to Solve Patient Pay

The patient's healthcare financial obligation has increased dramatically and shows no sign of declining. But most consumers aren't prepared, able or willing to repay their medical debt in one large chunk. In fact, consumers tell us that healthcare is so expensive they need 12 months or more to repay their cost of care¹.

At ClearBalance HealthCare®, our sole focus is patient pay. For 30 years, we've worked with hospitals and health systems to provide financing solutions that significantly improve patient pay recovery and satisfaction while driving cash flow to your bottom line. We typically recoup 20%-50% more than a hospital's in-house collection team and we maintain the industry's highest reimbursement rate, averaging 90% nationally.

Working with ClearBalance, your organization provides a consumer-friendly revolving line of credit to patients who need or want help paying their healthcare bills. Essentially, we make it easier and more attractive for patients to meet their financial responsibility. Grounded in 30 years' worth of patient payment behavior analytics, our program offers monthly payments so individuals are able to make payments that fit within their budget. Because our program provides patients with a revolving line of credit, they can consolidate balances for family members and add medical bills for future services. The ClearBalance program receives positive feedback from patients, year-after-year. According to our account holder data, 95% say providers that offer the ClearBalance program are providing a community benefit¹.

How Our Program Works

As a best practice, your team should include the ClearBalance program as an integral component of financial counseling: pre-service, on-site at time of service, discharge, post-service and digitally for consumers searching your website and portal for payment options. Since your counselors are armed with real solutions that give patients financial options, our program is proven to enhance point-of-service collections and helps prevent patients from avoiding the care they need.

Enrollment in the ClearBalance program is fast, easy and efficient and can be handled by your staff by patients in a self-service online environment. There are no applications or legal disclosures for your staff to learn or discuss with patients. You don't need credit searches, scoring protocols or propensity to pay models. The ClearBalance program is available to all patients, which supports your organization's compliance with IRS regulation 501(r) and fair consumer lending practices. Once the patient's service has been adjudicated and his/ her final costs are known, ClearBalance steps in to manage the repayment process. It's that simple.
